

INSTRUCTIONS FOR PLAYING COMPACT DISKS

Hearings recorded on and after August 1, 2003 are recorded on the CourtFLOW system made by Voice IQ, Inc. To play a CD recorded using this system, you must use one of the VoiceIQ Court Players.

The free version of the Court Player* can be downloaded as follows:

1. Go to www.voiceiq.com.
2. Click on "Support". (This is on the right side of the screen).
3. Under Downloads, click on VoiceIQ Court Player.

Using Court Player*

1. Insert the CD containing the court recording into the CD drive.
2. Launch the Court Player Application.
3. Click 'File' (located on the menu bar)
4. Click 'Open Case'
5. A browse window will appear. Locate your CD drive.
6. Click the '+' sign next to the drive to expand the directories.
7. Click the 'dAudio' subdirectory.
8. Click 'OK'
9. A session Window will appear. Click the '+' sign next to the session name to expand the cases.
10. Select the case that you wish to hear and click 'OK'.
11. The court player main window will appear with standard audio controls. Click the first button (left facing arrow) to begin play.

*Court Player is a free version of the Court Flow Player. It does not include synchronized annotations, however the annotations can be provided with time stamps in a Microsoft Word Document. The player can be downloaded from <http://www.voiceiq.com> from their 'support' page.

Disclaimer: The Court Flow software is written and supported by Voice IQ Incorporated. The United States Bankruptcy Court, and all Federal Courts provide no warranties, written or implied that any Court Flow software will be free of errors or perform as advertised. Furthermore, the Court assumes no liability for direct or indirect damages arising from use of that software.